

Alexander Hancox 6H
(Prake)

Happy Halloween

One day ~~Yesterday morning~~ It was like any other day and I got dressed and had ~~breakfast~~ breakfast and started to walk to school but on the way I realised I was being followed by a boy at my school. I turned around and said "why are you following me?" he replied "I don't know". I started to be suspicious, he was the year below me at school so I didn't know him. I started to walk faster and then I reached the school the boy who was following me ran off into the playground.

I realised that everyone was laughing at me I didn't know why then one of my friends told me that my rucksack was sprayed pink. I knew that the boy that was following had done it. I thought to myself and I then I knew I had to get him back.

So the next day I put a letter in his locker because we had girls at our school. I put in the letter meet me at the playground as soon as we are let out for lunch. When we came out for lunch he waited by a bench expecting a girl to show up. I came up behind him and pulled his pants down. It was so funny and everyone saw it.

Later that day ~~At~~ my Dad told me that he was going ~~away~~ ^{to be} away for halloween, but I didn't mind I was going trick or treating with my friends. All my friends said they would ~~bring~~ ^{be} meet me in the park so I went to the park, because it was winter it was so dark that I couldn't see anyone. Then they suddenly jumped out from behind the ~~house~~ ^{house} bench and scared me to death. "hey why you so late" said one of my friends.

"I'm not late". I said

"Just joking". said my friends.

"Lets go we" said. I was so looking forward to go trick or treating that I forgot my bucket to collect my sweets in and to learn some tricks. When it started to get dark we started to get scared so we decided to take a shortcut to a row of houses through a graveyard. I started to get scared and then my friends started to look like real vampires, werewolves, frankensteins, ghosts and skeletons I said "very funny guys you can stop that now" but they didn't they carried on then the + my very best friend who was dressed up as a vampire said "we want to eat you" now I was so freaked I started to scream and started to run but I couldn't! then the nearest vampire opened his mouth and....

"Mr Horrox" said my teacher bellowed my teacher

"yes sir" what " I said

"you've fallen asleep again" he exclaimed

"phew I was dreaming again" I said to myself

Then I looked out the window and saw vampires, werewolves and ghosts. I screamed and ran out the classroom.

Later that day I was going to my friend's house but I was so nervous I didn't go. I was thinking about the dream and how scary it was. I was also thinking about the teacher and how he was always on my back.

I was also thinking about the vampires, werewolves and ghosts. I was thinking about how they were all around me and how they were all looking at me. I was thinking about how they were all trying to eat me.

I was also thinking about the teacher and how he was always on my back. I was thinking about how he was always saying "Mr Horrox" and how he was always bellowing my name.

I was also thinking about the dream and how scary it was. I was thinking about how I was so freaked out and how I was so nervous.

I was also thinking about the teacher and how he was always on my back. I was thinking about how he was always saying "Mr Horrox" and how he was always bellowing my name. I was also thinking about the dream and how scary it was. I was thinking about how I was so freaked out and how I was so nervous.