

Tales of the unexpected

One day me and my dad were hunting on a lake in Brazil we were looking for a crocodile. We got on our boat and my dad brought his shotgun just in case a hippo or a crocodile attacked us. We got bored so we started fishing I caught one but it got away. Then I suddenly saw a bump in the water it looked like a crocodile but I thought it was a log. Suddenly a crocodile jumped up from underwater and broke the boat and dad picked up the shot gun and shot it in the head. Suddenly I fainted. Every thing went black. Then I woke up on the beach and I ran over to my dad he was all right. Then we went back to the plane and flew back home.

